QUIET NOISE is about a concrete wall that absorbs the afternoon light, while letting the gentle wind through to cool down the entire household.

The concrete wall guiding your vision into the kitchen.

QUIET NOISE is also about a lightly structured staircase that leads the client's way up to (the personal space/the bed and bath) for the final relaxation of the day.

Around the stairs there is a diverse mix of art works the client collects. The design of the staircase is intended to minimize the use of colors and materials to maintain the subtlety of the environment created to exhibit the client's collections.

Meanwhile the guests can cozily sit back on the sofa against the concrete wall and immerse themselves in the scenery, enjoying the moments of quiet noise in the air.
