本來

本就這樣，也就自然。

此案位於大樓的頂樓有局部的挑高空間，盡可能地發揮這先天的優勢，創造此空間的張力與效能，這是設計者應有的堅持。

原始建築外觀使用鋼構、玻璃的現代感襯托清水模的自然質樸，我們想把此精神延伸至室內空間，因此在玄關與餐廳主牆，使用大面積的清水模牆。夾層主結構與旋梯使用鋼結構，希望能忠實呈現素材質地與它本身所透露出來的力道和結構直接裸露的美感。其結合實木構築出來的樓板，溫潤的天花自然由生。

我們想藉由探討更簡單與直接的設計，使生活回歸自在單純。

Back to the Basics

The home before you is the epitome of raw beauty. It straddles the delicate balance between simplicity and design.

At the core of the design inspiration lies the masterful architectural foundation of this home situated at the very top of a high-rise. The wildly tall ceiling together with the rare presence of cement as its interior outlines creates the most malleable of canvases. Through the 15-foot windows that stretch the length of the entire home, the interior seamlessly extends into the outer cityscape, which the designers mirror back into the home with the use of coral stone as its centerpiece. Against the backdrop of the skyline and the neutral tones of the raw materials, the canvas is shaped by the intricate integration of H-beams and hardwood, detailed with a spiral staircase and a prominent book wall, and further accentuated with classic furniture pieces. The juxtaposition of the wonders of nature and the grandeur of human creations invites you to linger and dream in the spanning space in between.

Perhaps an unlikely marriage of concepts and materials, perfect harmony is realized in this down-to-earth yet timeless and inspiring home. Welcome to your studio of life.
